

Network with colleagues from around the world at dinner!

No host dine around organized by APPA Past Presidents

Who?

Attendees of the Second World Congress on Community Corrections in Los Angeles

What?

Go to dinner with an APPA Past President organizing reservations, transportation to the restaurants (which may be walking), and a way to get to know other attendees at the World Congress.

How does it work?

Sign-up sheets will be available in the registration area. Sign your name to a list for the restaurant you prefer. Menus will be available near the sign-up sheet. A photo of your host will be posted in the lobby to assist in organizing the groups. The size of the groups will be limited to 12, including the host. In the event that there is a small number who want to go to one restaurant, they may be combined with another group. Each participant will be responsible for the cost of their dinner, but the logistics will be organized by your charming host (you are going to have to trust me on that). Each group will meet in the lobby of the hotel at 6:30 p.m. (18:30) sharp in order to get to the restaurant at 7 p.m. (19:00)

When?

Wednesday, July 15, 2015. Meet in the lobby at 6:30 p.m. (18:30) for dinner reservations at 7 p.m. (19:00)

Why?

While it may seem strange for you to go to dinner with a group of strangers, this is a great way to meet World Congress attendees. The past presidents can share information about the American Probation and Parole Association and you can learn more information about the Third World Congress being planned in 2017.
