

Research Inquiry

American Probation and Parole Association

In response to a National Institute of Justice funding solicitation, APPA is currently seeking partnerships with probation and parole agencies to conduct research studies on several topics of interest, such as:

- Probationer/parolee outcomes
- Validation of risk/needs assessment processes
- Organizational climate and officer job satisfaction, stress, and burnout
- Officer-probationer/parolee relationships and outcomes
- Workloads of supervision officers
- Partnerships between probation/parole and law enforcement
- Efficacy of administrative-based vs. court-based responses to violations

Agencies are welcome to submit other topics of interest as well.

Please contact APPA Research Associates, Nathan Lowe (nlowe@csg.org or 859-244-8057) or Adam Matz (amatz@csg.org or 859-244-8058), to inquire about this opportunity.
