CALL FOR PRESENTERS

APPA's winter training institutes provide attendees with learning opportunities that emphasize skill-building and enhance career development. Preference will be given to workshop proposals that include S.M.A.R.T learning objectives (Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Relevant and Timely), incorporated activities, audience participation, a skills-focused approach, and new research on the field of community corrections. Please consider best practices for communication and engagement practices for audience members who may attend workshops virtually. Participants include community corrections professionals in the fields of pretrial, probation, and parole as well as reentry, program and treatment providers, judiciary, criminal justice researchers, educators, and more.

APPA is excited to provide this platform for practitioners who are focused on improving core competencies, understanding what works in the field, embracing education and training, and continually developing skills. All are essential to the success of this crucial work, and it all rests firmly on the foundation of the belief that this field has significant impact on public safety. We look forward to making safer communities together with you.
